

Volunteer Role Description

Job title: Romney Marsh Visitor Centre practical/outdoor Volunteer

General purpose of the role:

Assisting in the delivery of practical outdoor tasks at the Romney Marsh Visitor Centre including: helping to maintain the wildlife areas, visitor amenities, educational resources and working on a variety of tasks appropriate to the season. Working as part of a team, outdoor volunteers help with the upkeep, development and protection of the Romney Marsh Visitor Centre so that it can be enjoyed by all visitors.

The person:

This role will suit someone who has some experience of gardening or outdoor work or someone who just wants to get their hands dirty and has a passion for the outdoors. This role can be physically demanding so you'd need to be reasonably fit and willing to work out of doors in all weather conditions. You'll need to have the desire to help, an enthusiasm for wildlife, conservation and the Romney Marsh.

But most important of all, you'll need a friendly demeanour and a ready smile!

Time Commitment:

Time commitment and availability can be discussed and agreed and is flexible to the individual, though it is likely most opportunities will be at weekends.

The benefits:

You'll be able to utilise your practical skills and knowledge, as well as gaining new skills and knowledge about the Centre and the work of the Kent Wildlife Trust. At the end of the day, you'll go home knowing you've made a difference. You will be ensuring that visitors get a really positive experience at the Visitor Centre and nature reserve and be helping to support the work of the Kent Wildlife Trust. You will receive support and training from the staff and be helping in a friendly environment.
